POISON DOESN'T SOLVE YOUR PEST PROBLEM IT MAKES SURE IT COMES BACK

Rodenticides may not have been intended for raptors and other predators, but it is not selective in what it kills. Any use of rodenticides is a danger to non-target wildlife, your pets, and your family.

The best long-term solution to keep rats out is to make sure food and other attractants are stored properly, entry points are sealed, and let nature do its job.
